Behind the Scenes: Science of the Seashore

February 11, 11am; coffee and refreshments at 10:30

There's so much valuable research occurring outside of the public eye year round at Assateague Island National Seashore and it's fascinating! Presented by Kelly Taylor, ASIS Interpretation and Education Supervisor, she'll take you on a journey behind the scenes to discover what resource management staff are up to and how the projects are essential to the island. Taylor will cover everything from aquatics, vegetation & plover management, physical science monitoring, and of course, horse management. Meet at the Environmental Education Center 7206 National Seashore Lane, Berlin, MD 21811.

Burley Oak Charity Night for AIA

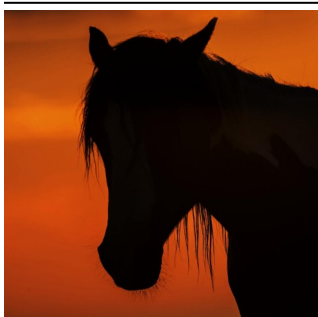

March 27, 6-9pm at Burley Oak Brewing Company, Berlin, MD

Make your Monday memorable and come out for a fresh Burley Oak brew or root-beer to support AIA. Win awesome prizes and enjoy stellar live music thanks to the talents of Michelle and Kathy from Full Circle! This is always a fun night! All funds raised by AIA are for the direct benefit of Assateague Island National Seashore.

Archaeology and History of Assateague and Sinepuxent Neck

April 1 at 1 pm; refreshments at 12:30

Discover the rich history of these areas through the perspective of Aaron Levinthal, Maryland Environmental Service archaeologist. His presentation will include a slideshow followed by a walking tour of the Rackliffe House and grounds highlighting the results of archaeological investigations that have occurred in the vicinity.
